PRESIDENTS PEN: July 2015,

I hope that all member of MCLS have enjoyed the past July Fourth Holiday, The anniversary of the birth of our country is good reason to celebrate life in this great Nation. Several members of our group are involved in fireworks displays, both on the professional level and the local level, Our small town had a great display and it was a good opportunity to socialize with neighbors.

Contests:

Over the past month we have had the opportunity to recover from the three contests almost back to back in May and June , Huntersville, Joe Nall week and then Brodak week is a real challenge to get organized , contest preparations done and then wait for the good weather gods to shine on us. Being involved in the stunt events at these contest is very rewarding.

Seeing modelers from all over the country, catching up with family members and their new additions is the most memorable part of the hobby for me.

Thanks to all of the people that contact me to help out with judging , tabulating , running score , etc, All three contest went great and we are now preparing for the upcoming October contest .

Nationals :

During the week of July 14 the AMA nationals is going on for stunt , the National Champion for Precision Aerobatics was decided , OTS , Classic , Beginner and Intermediate stunt will also be decided , You can check on the local forums for the results or wait for the next issue of control line world and Stunt News for the results.

Jo Shoemaker won AMA Rookie of the year in Carrier , Everett and Jo Competed in Navy Carrier ,

Flying site :

The conditions at the Huntersville flying site will need to be discussed at the next meeting of MCLS. We have had contact with parks and rec. thru Sonny Williams and David Smith concerning the parking issue , handicap parking spot and some park items that were damaged over the past month.

We have some other issues that we are keeping on the front burner are field maintained, Circle repair, Trees around the circles, and the possibility of a additional circle in the future . MCLS has Board members that represent us on the county level.

Anyone with a issue concerning the Huntersville flying site needs to address the issue at our monthly club meetings and the issue will be taken to the county level.

Brodak Fly In :

At the 2015 Brodak Fly In , I was invited to a meeting concerning the continuation of the Brodak fly in after the 2016 fly in. There has been some discussion about moving it to a Pylon Racing site , Julian Airport in central North Carolina , near High Point NC. More details will be brought out at the next club meeting .The details are still incomplete, but I can say that AMA VP Jay Marsh and John Brodak have discussed this and we hope to have some more details at the club Meeting .

New Construction:

Watt Moore has several new models under construction, including a New Brodak kit of the Firecat , Sonny Williams has gotten the speed bug and is working on a couple new proto speed planes , bet they will be yellow , Wayne Robinson just finished the IDS stunt trainer, Rusty is working on trimming his Oriental, Brian Malin has a new Russian stunter , just finished for Brodak fly in , I have started my latest stunter the Max bee , It is coming along good in between repairing the Fanfare that I crashed at the KOI. The Max Bee is a simple foam wing model, powered with electric system developed by Igor Burger, It has a little different control system that I will bring to the club meeting is I get it together.

Control Line World:

Anyone that does not subscribe to the greatest Control Line magazine of all time is really missing out, it is not just about one discipline, it will cover all aspects of control line, including , speed , racing, stunt, and sport . You can subscribe to the magazine on the Brodak web site , easy to do, just a couple clicks and you are done ,

New Club Members :

One way we can continue to grow our sport and spread the hobby is by helping others with our same interest. We all have items in our shop that we no longer intend to use, have grown past their use in our skill level, or just lost interest in . By giving these items to new club members is a great way to show support of the newer modelers in our club and it helps clean out the shop , so no one will call the hoarder show on us for treatment of our disease..

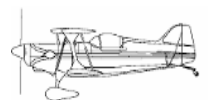

Club Meeting

Remember, the club is providing Hot Dogs, Hamburgers, chips and drinks, we will be getting to Ducks home on 629 Mariposa Rd , Stanley NC, around 10 am, we will eat around noon, club meeting at 2. , flying on his grass circle in between ,

Keep on Keeping on,

Will Davis
President
Metrolina Control Line Society

Brodak 2015 Fly-In

RAIN - MUD - STRAW

Would you invite people back who did this to your yard? This has happened a number of times and John has welcomed us all back. It rained every day and the field suffered as can be seen. The rain and field condition did not dampen the spirits of the 136+ contestants, families and friends. All the events were completed and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves and are ready to come back.

We were Looking forward to the group photo gathering at the big green tree but due to RAIN and trying to get the events finished we did not get the group picture. Or they did not wake me up for it.

They did get it but they either did not wake me up or I was at the Combat area which is the farthest away from the picture area.

Junkyard Wars

The Highlight of the Fly-in has to be the Junkyard Wars event in which scrap packing crate wood is used to build a flying model. A number of unique methods and designs have been developed. Some successful, VERY successful and others a little less so. The judging criteria is based on design, decoration and flying.

One element not judged is the presentation of the flying part. If it were judged then Dan Banjock's group of youngsters, Team Absurd, would win hands down.

Two years ago he choreographed a 50s rock band complete with period music and attire.

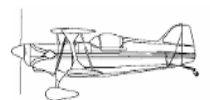

This year they outdid last year's effort with a circus clown performance complete with clown suits, white face and red noses. The crowd loved it and the kids had a ball doing it.

Watts Longest Build

From the July 2015 Issue

Watt bought the plans and started this AT-6 in 1953 and finished it in time to fly at Brodak's this year. Only 62 years later. I guess he just wanted to get it right.

(ED.) I have a similar effort going with Graupner Focke Wulf Ta152H1 which I bought in 1968 when our US Navy ship visited Singapore. It has been moved all around the shop in a partially built state. It has suffered badly over the years but can be repaired. Only 14 more years and I will beat Watt's record. Watt's effort has stirred my interest to finish it.

Post by Mike Griffin: I got a answer from AMA \(thank you Tim Wescott\) on: July 13, 2015, 12:10:46 PM

I just got off the phone with Shawn Grubbs of the AMA and he was very nice and helpful and had the figures to answer my question. For those of you who may not have read my post asking the question, here is what I asked.

How many members in AMA fly in specific genres. For example, how many fly RC, how many Control Line and how many Free Flight? Following are the figures that Shawn gave me.

As of last Sunday, July 12, 2015, there are a total of 179,773 AMA members.

Here is the breakdown by genre.

Radio Control - 138,000 members say they fly RC. Now out of these 138,000, 10,000 say they fly helicopters and 7200 say they fly multi rotors, FPV and SUAF. So basically, within the 138,000 member base that is grouped in RC, 17,200 of them fly something other than fixed wing craft.

CONTROL LINE - 4500 Members in this group

FREE FLIGHT - 4700 Members in this group.

From Road Kill to Flyable on: July 07, 2015, 07:30:01 PM

For those that saw the awful result of what happens when a car meets a Chipmunk in the pits at Brodak this year. I thought I would let everyone know....the Chip lives again.... and if you didn't know it had been run over....you would have a hard time telling. It gained a 1/2 once but that's not too bad.

Pictures show before and after

I will hopefully get to do some test flights tomorrow night.
